Day 1: Hanoi - Nghia Lo (-/L/D)

You will leave Hanoi from the Old Quarter and travel for about 2 hours to Duong Lam, an ancient village which has been under UNESCO protection since 2006. The houses date back 100-400 years and are surrounded by temples and gardens.

This is an important historical site which is home to temples in honour of two kings, national heroes, who defended the land against the Chinese about 1200 years ago. After looking around the village, you will also stop for lunch.

You will continue to drive through the rural countryside, through flat paddy fields and then, as you gain height, you see tea plantations corn or maize dotted amongst the karst limestone outcrops. You will stay overnight with a delightful White Thai family in a traditional stilt house in Nghia Lo.

Highlights and activities: Duong Lam ancient, Nghia Lo, a 2 - 3 hour flat walk

Distance: Hanoi – Nghia Lo: 230 => 5 – 6 hours for driving

Day 2: Nghia Lo - Mucangchai (B/L/D)

You will rise early and take a bike ride around the paddy fields, basking in the peaceful morning ambience. The mornings begin early for the villagers who can be seen quietly working in the fields surrounded by ducks, chickens, pigs and buffalos. Breakfast is taken in the open air overlooking the fields before you check out and set off over the dramatic Khau Pha Mountain Pass.

The rice fields of Tu Le along the way are spectacular and will fill you with wonder. After lunch in a local restaurant, you will continue to drive to Nam Co Village where you will see the flower H'mong ethnic minority in their colourful traditional costume. If your trip falls on the correct day, you will also be able to visit the fascinating local market. You will then drive to Mang Mu Village and Mam Soi terraced rice fields and take a short walk up the hill to a viewpoint to take in the incredible views.

Overnight in Mu Cang Chai

Highlights and activities: Khau Pha mountain Pass, La Pan Tan, a 5 - 7 km trek

Distance: Nghia Lo – Mu Cang Chai: 95 km => 2.5 - 3 hours for driving

Day 3: Trekking in Mucangchai (B/L/D)

After breakfast in the homestay, a local guide will collect you for the longest trek of the tour, from Kim Noi Village to Hang Dang De then to Che Cu Nha. You will enjoy a picnic lunch on the rice terraces and then continue to La Pan Tan where you will be picked up and driven back for your homestay to relax.

Overnight in Mu Cang Chai

Highlights and activities: Kim Noi village, Hang Dang De, a 15 - 17 km trek

Day 4: Mucangchai - Bac Ha (B/L/D)

After breakfast, you will drive from Mu Cang Chai through Than Uyen to Bac Ha town. Just forget Sapa with plenty of tourist. The road is very dramatic with many winding hairpin bends each opening up a new vista of the mountains. You will cross the Hoang Lien Son mountains before arriving in Bao Ha where you will have lunch at the chance to explore the town.

Then you will walk around and through ethnic villages to Bac Ha where you will have dinner and stay overnight in a Tay ethnic house.

Overnight in Bac Ha

Distance: Mu Cang Chai – Bac Ha: 190 km => 5 – 6 hours for driving

Day 5: Bac Ha sunday market - Hoangsuphi (B/L/D)

If it is a Sunday, you can visit Bac Ha and Coc Pai markets, or if it is a Saturday, Can Cau market. You will have lunch in Coc Pai before an adventurous trip along a narrow road full of hairpin bends leading towards the Ban May terraced rice fields. Each twist and turn will bring more gasps of amazement at the intricacy of the narrow, vertiginous rice terraces. Here you will see the La Chi people who are distinguishable by their traditional outfits. The girls' clothing is mainly black with delicate coloured embroidery on a front panel and belt. A long strip is knotted around the hair makes up the headdress. As they spin, weave and dye all the fabric used for these clothes, it's common to see skeins of hemp and hand-woven strips of indigo dyed fabric drying on a line outside of the houses. You will spend the night in a homestay in the village.

Overnight in Hoang Su Phi

Highlights and activities: Ban May terraced fields, a 3 - 5 km trek

Distance: Bac Ha – Hoang Su Phi: 90 km => 2 – 2.5 hours for driving

Day 6: Trekking in Hoangsuphi - Hagiang (B/L/D)

Today, you will trek from the village of Dong Loi to Suoi Thau via the terraced rice fields, meeting the La Chi ethnic communities and seeing how they live.

Life for the La Chi can be very tough as often their houses can only be approached through the rice fields, so all food, equipment and building materials must be carried by hand. You will stop for a picnic lunch in Thang Loi Village. You will then visit the site of many ancient tombs, disguising the single treasured and protected tomb of Hoang Van Thung who was a national hero and king of the La Chi ethnic people. After lunch, you will drive to Ha Giang to the homestay for dinner and a hard earned rest.

Overnight in Ha Giang

Highlights and activities: Thang Loi village, Ha Giang, a 10 km trek

Distance: Hoang Su Phi – Ha Giang: 90 km => 2 – 2.5 hours for driving

Day 7: Hagiang - Dongvan (B/L/D)

Today you will encounter some spectacular landscapes. You will begin your journey to Dong Van across a series of long passes. You will have lunch en route in the small but beautiful mountain town of Tam Son. Then, you will head to the majestic King of the H'mong's Palace, a fortress built by a local chief, Vuong Chin Duc, who was allied with the French against the Viet Minh. The palace, built in the early 1900s was designed in the ancient Chinese architectural style of the Man Qing era. It was made from materials such as solid stone, wood and terracotta tiles. After continuing your journey, you will arrive at your hotel around 17:00 in time for dinner and an overnight stay in a hotel.

Overnight in Dong Van
